Hemp + Organic Cotton Muslin

AVAILABLE AT THE DONGHIA MATERIALS LIBRARY

This textile is made of a blend of all-natural hemp and organic cotton fibers. The addition of organic cotton gives the textile a softer "hand" (the feel of the fabric on skin) and makes a more affordable option for interior textiles. In addition to being potentially biodegradable, hemp and cotton are both renewable resources. Hemp, in particular, is a notable favorite here at HML for its carbon sequestration and soil restoration abilities and the ways it can be farmed and processed. Hemp Traders have been in the business of hemp since the 1990s even when hemp was illegal to grow here still. Their long-established connections in the hemp world and deep expertise make Hemp Traders a greatly valued source.
